FINAL RESTING PLACE OF WILSON NOT YET DECIDED

BODY NOW LIES UNDER TALL ARCHES OF CATHEDRAL.

TOMB IS PLANNED

May Be Made Part of Present Structure; Wait Consent of Widow.

[By Associated Press]

Washington—Wrapped in the glory of death, Woodrow Wilson has found sanctuary under the towering arches of the Washington cathedral, acclaimed by his countrymen and the world.

He was laid to his eternal rest in the silent vault with only the solemn, simple rites of religious service, as was his wish, often spoken to the sorrowing widow who day after day sought again to take up life's burdens. Before her stood the task of deciding where shall be the final resting place of her honored husband.

The dead was president had given thought to the place where he would rest in death, and it will be within the District of Columbia that his ultimate tomb will be set. That has

BURSUM HAS REMEDY FOR FARM TROUBLE

[By Associated Press]

Washington—A new measure designed to bring relief to areas where stringent credit situation has resulted from agricultural depression was proposed yesterday by Senator Bursum, Republican, New Mexico.

Mr. Bursum's bill provides for the transfer of $20,000,000 from the war finance corporation to the comptroller of the currency for use in stabilizing banks and trust companies and restoring public confidence in banking institutions in the affected areas.

The company would be authorized to make loans not only to maintain the stability of solvent banks and trust companies, but to aid in the reopening of institutions closed during or subsequent to 1923 whenever in his judgment such action is in the interest of the community to be done.

PUBLISHERS OF BOOK ARE FINED $1,000

[By Associated Press]

Chicago—Pascal Coviel and William McGee, publishers under the firm name of Coviel and McGee, were each fined $1,000 after pleading guilty to sending indecent literature through the mails, the offense being the merchandizing of the book, "Fantasia Mallard." The author, Ben Hecht, and illustrator, Wallace Smith, each were fined $1,000 recently.

EXECUTION OF 21 IS STAYED

Moscow—A stay of execution in the death sentences against General Petrellyev, former commander of the Siberian white army, and 20 of his followers, has been ordered by the Siberian revolutionary committee. The committee has also asked the federal executive to pardon the prisoners, declaring that the present strength of the soviet federation permits the proletariat to forego revenge.

TAFT BETTER; STAYS IN BED

[By Associated Press]

Washington—Chief Justice Taft, who suffered an attack of indigestion yesterday and had been ordered to stay in bed, is feeling quite well now. His physician, Dr. J. C. Gandy, said this morning to be much improved. He passed a restful night, but decided, as a matter of precaution, to remain in bed during the day.

"ADD A DAY" TO YOUR LIFE

[By Associated Press]

Washington—Chief Justice Taft, who suffered an attack of indigestion yesterday and had been ordered to stay in bed, is feeling quite well now. His physician, Dr. J. C. Gandy, said this morning to be much improved. He passed a restful night, but decided, as a matter of precaution, to remain in bed during the day.

It is a good day to pay debts, to buy merchandise, to clean up a thousand and one things that have been left off and waited for time.

You will get 24 hours handed to you right out of the air!

What's the matter with making this a big merchandising holiday for Janesville? Put on a celebration of the right sort for the occasion.

We will get four hours more before we shall be given an additional day in the year. Let's all hope to be fit to have 20 of those days handed to him. Suppose he did something worth while, some big thing which he is wanting always to do, on each of those days? What sort of things could have been accomplished in the span of a lifetime?

Start now and take cognizance of this added day.

Highways Must Be Kept Open

The millions invested in state and county highways in Wisconsin should be made to produce a return in winter as well as in summer. State and county highways should be kept open. The job can best be done by state and county highway officials assisted by private individuals interested in an uninterrupted flow of automobile traffic throughout the year. State Highway 16, the "Main Street" of Wisconsin, was closed to traffic between Winona and Janesville for over a month, and were it not for the efforts of the garage men along the route, who were losing thousands of dollars daily, it probably would have remained closed to traffic until the sun and warm weather would have done their work.

The bus industry of Wisconsin is willing to co-operate in any movement to keep the highways open in winter as well as in summer. The truck and bus owners have a particular interest in this matter as it means their daily bread and butter. However, busses use the highways to a very small extent as compared with their total use by the general automobile, and while bus operators are willing to do their share, the job is one primarily for the state and counties representing the public at large. Let us get together and do what we can to permit an uninterrupted flow of traffic on the highways of Wisconsin, the finest in the country, in winter as well as in summer.—From the Motor Bus Traveler.

For months, probably, he will lie in the vault to which he was committed yesterday just as night came slowly over the nation's capital; but a greater memorial will one day be reared for him, to show the honor in which men held him.

WITH THE FARMERS.

Farm Bureau Official Information

600,000 CATTLE ARE ACCREDITED

Progress of Tuberculosis Tested Herds Told by Commissioner.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Madison—More than 600,000 head of Wisconsin cattle are now included in accredited herds or are classed as supervised, according to a statement today by John D. Jones, Jr., state commissioner of agriculture, before the annual Farm Bureau meeting here. Commissioner Jones outlined the state department's program for the tuberculosis testing and foreign shipments during the coming year.

"The state department expects to prosecute to the fullest extent the tuberculosis test work carried on among Wisconsin herds," Commissioner Jones declared. "There are now 4,200 accredited herds in the state, including 93,731 head of cattle.

In addition to this number 27,322 herds, including 426,933 head of cattle, are under supervision of the state department.

"During the coming year, the state will have available for tuberculosis and foreign test work $400,000 additional, $20,000 more available from federal funds. Fifteen Wisconsin counties are now included in area tests and another is being completed at present. The area test work also will be pushed during the year.

Through tuberculosis and area test work the state will assume its responsibility in the foreign cattle industry of Wisconsin, Mr. Jones said. He stated that during the last year, approximately 56,000 head of Wisconsin cattle were shipped to other states and foreign countries. He predicted that the foreign shipments would jump to 60,000 during 1924.

The county organization is the best unit for carrying on the foreign shipment industry, Commissioner Jones said. He advocated the organization of county units in each county of the state. The state will assist in protecting and encouraging foreign shipments also, he said, through strict regulation of veterinarians who inspect outgoing shipments.

FARM ACCOUNTING WILL HELP FARMER

By R. T. GLASSCO

Farm accounts should be kept by every farmer in Rock county. In these days of uncertainty, when it is almost impossible to ascertain the cost of production on most farm commodities, the ordinary farmer should know what his individual costs are.

The farm bureau department of the college of agriculture has a very compact farm record book which is distributed to the farmers at 50 cents per copy. With this book it only takes 10 minutes a day to keep an accurate record of what is being done on the farm.

Most farmers are not troubled at present with the income tax report, but times may change and a farm account book is very convenient when it comes to making out the income tax reports.

Any farmer desiring to keep accounts during the year for 1924 should get into communication with the county agent, so that a report can be summarized of the accounts kept in the county for the year.

BEEKEEPERS WILL MEET HERE SATURDAY

An all day school for Rock county beekeepers will be held in the court house, Janesville, Saturday, Feb. 8. The morning session will open at 10.

ASKS CHANGES IN 20 STREET NAMES

Wholesale Revision of Present System Is Suggested by West Bluff Street Man.

Instead of limiting the proposed changes of street names to only four, Frank H. Porter has projected the idea of a general revision of the present system and suggests new names for a score or more of streets.

"Why wouldn't it be a good plan," asks Mr. Porter, "for the city of Janesville to have a general re-naming of streets and have appropriate names for them. Arrange them so they will not be confusing and can be easily found."

"To accomplish this, have the city offer prizes to individuals or organizations that will offer the best named streets. This will set the people interested in the accomplishments of the city. Have the city council appoint a committee to decide on the contest. Take the names of all the contestants street by street and name each with the best name given."

Call Through Streets, Avenues. "I do not believe we can change the names of all the streets, as a great many have appropriate names, but we have streets that have very inappropriate and confusing names. As much as possible I would name all streets that do not lead anywhere, streets; and all through going streets, avenues.

"Whenever Janesville puts in a boulevard, call it a boulevard. On account of two rows of trees each side of Center avenue, and that it has a boulevard, I would call it Elm Grove boulevard, which I think sounds grander than Center avenue. But it would not be a bad name for a business street, and as Milwaukee street is central, I would apply it to Milwaukee street full length, east and west.

"I would change Pleasant street, including Court street, to Grand avenue; Grand avenue to Mifflin street; East street to Pleasant street; Eastern avenue to Division street; Division street to Janes street; Park street to South Water street; West Bluff street to Laurel avenue.

"I consider that the best name given, and as a resident of West Bluff, would prefer to live on Laurel avenue.

"I would also change Hickory street to Roosevelt avenue; North street to Welch street. Then to make it easy I would start it at First street and let First street remain; change Prospect avenue to Second street; Pleasant court to Third street; Fourth avenue to Franklin street; Fifth street to Short street; Glen street to Fifth street; St. Lawrence avenue to First avenue; South Second street to Second avenue; South Third street to Third avenue; Oakland avenue to Fourth avenue.

"As I am only one of 20,000 and realize that there are better opinions than mine, I would like to see this street naming proposition remain open a while longer and let anyone who wants to present his ideas on the subject do so."

Proposal on Our Proposal.

A woman who has lived on Center avenue for 31 years, and who owns 5½ lots on that street, protests strongly against the name of that thoroughfare being changed. She says her husband lived and died on Center avenue and that they paid a lot of money for the pavement in front of their property.

Young Woman Is Good Entertainer

Miss Helen Waggoner, who will appear on the local lyceum course at the Methodist church at 8 p. m. Friday, is a popular entertainer and gives character impersonations and readings. She is a young woman of poise and interesting personality, and puts a brilliancy and dramatic fire into her performances.

Miss Waggoner's character impersonations are portrayals of types familiar to all. In addition to her character sketches she will present one-act plays—"Mrs. Pat and the Law."

She is said to be one of the most popular young women entertainers on the Lyceum platform.

Clear a shelf in your pantry
for the GOLD MEDAL Group

Gold Medal—the name of your favorite flour—has been extended to include a group of foods all of Gold Medal quality. Their foods are made in the Gold Medal Mills—the largest in the world.

The same expert selection of grains, the same skilled handling, the same cleanliness in preparation that has made Gold Medal Flour the country's leading brand, are employed in making each food in the new Gold Medal Group.

Whatever your need—whether an instantaneuous pancake flour, special cake flour, a purified bran, or wheat cereal, or rolled oats—one name is all you need to remember—the name "Gold Medal". It simplifies your marketing. It insures your getting the best in each.

for instance!

You can prepare a Gold Medal Pancake breakfast in a minute—just add water, stir and drop on a hot griddle, no work—no risk of failure. But ease of making is but one Gold Medal argument. The big appeal is the Gold Medal flavor—the delicious taste of expertly blended grains—a taste you never tire of. Try Gold Medal Pancake Flour and you'll have pancakes oftener. Your grocer has it.

CRITICISM IS ONLY BAD HABIT, SAY BOYS

"Criticism is nothing but a bad habit," according to the decision reached by the Hi-Y club at its round table discussion on that subject at its meeting Wednesday night.

One reason why constructively criticism is often withheld, it was thought by members, is because of the unfounded belief that the person receiving it will not accept it in the spirit given.

All committees have not been appointed, but will be announced this week, or at the next meeting. The report of the book-exchange at the high school will also be given at that time.

My Youth Cream keeps this baby skin

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Thousands upon thousands of women have asked me to tell what cold cream I employ. They see me with a girl's complexion at the age of 62. It is ever softer, even rosier than 40 years ago.

Yet my life has been lived in the lime-light. And I served France for five years in the rigors of the war.

A French creation

French experts perfected this cream for my many trips to Europe.

Now I have found a cream to compare with this.

The expert makers tell me it is the greatest cream produced. So I have

Federation Will Seek Donations for City Nurse

The City Federation of women will seek donations from club women of supplies that are needed by the city nurse, Miss Hulda Andreas. Mrs. C. A. Sanborn, president, reported at the monthly board meeting Thursday forenoon, that supplies of old linen, old blankets and articles for infant layettes, are desired and that the cooperation of the Eastern Star study class had been enlisted to meet an emergency that arose a few days ago. It was also reported that the D. A. R. is making a layette and the Atheneum class has donated funds for supplies.

In her work among the sick, Miss Andreas finds uses for large quantities of sterilized materials and can utilize old sheets, old table linens and worn blankets in various ways.

The plan for the observance of Home and Community Play week was endorsed by the Federation board of directors, the Federation having cooperated in the project.

Mrs. McCue was a member of the Royal Neighbors and W. R. C. The funeral services will be held at the home on Milwaukee street, Friday at 3 p. m., the Rev. A. D. McKay officiating. Burial will be at Janesville.

Lawrence Glee Club Will Sing Here Next Week

Lawrence college's men's glee club, 40 voices, comes to Janesville next Wednesday to make its fourth successive annual appearance as one of the musical attractions of the year, giving its program at the Methodist church.

Probably no other college or university glee club in the middle west receives a more thorough training than does the Lawrence college glee club, under the direction of Prof. Carl Condit, director of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music. Practice has been held since last October with 100 out for rehearsals. Dean Waterman lays considerable stress on part or sectional rehearsals to develop exactness in tone quality and shading, which leads to a greater degree of accuracy in ensemble singing of the four sections.

The trip to Janesville is part of the only tour, one which Oshkosh, Madison, Milwaukee, Janesville and Sheboygan will be visited. A second trip is made in the spring, with engagements at Duluth, Superior and Minneapolis.

The Beginning of the End.

Evacuation of Vera Cruz and the flight of the revolutionist Huerta, indicates the end of the revolt in Mexico. If the Obregon government pacifies the other territories where revolutionary armies are still making a desultory resistance,
there will soon be an end to hostilities and a return to a comparatively peaceful state—as peaceful at least as Mexico may possibly be.Huerta, once a member of the Obregon government, revolted because he believed the Obregon-ists were favoring the nomination and election of Cáceres for the presidency. That may have been true but what precipitated the conflict was the examination or audit of the books of the treasury department of Mexico and the discovery that there was missing some 10,000,000 pesos. Huerta was the treasurer. It was arrest or revolution so do la Huerta revolted.We had completed a treaty of great commercial value with Mexico about that time. It was up to the senate to ratify it. We were about to resume relations with Mexico—relations which are of great mutual value. We have been extranged for many years. There has never been any policy in reference to the Mexican situation, except of the vacillating sort, under both Taft and Wilson. Pershing went after Villa, but the bandit leader escaped the American soldiers who were constantly held in flesh, just as Villa had dodged the rurales. We sent a fleet to Vera Cruz with disastrous consequences because we finished nothing we began. We "watchfully waited" on the border.It remained for President Coolidge to carry out the entente established by President Harding and to advocate those measures which meant an end to the revolution. The moment we sold arms to Obregon and sent ships to keep open the harbor of Tampico, that moment the doom of Huerta was fixed. Since the days of Theodore Roosevelt, we have had no such example of the Big Stick.
And it has proved effective. With peace in Mexico we shall have trade and commerce again stable and on a firm foundation.Captain Bolt of the good ship Peace Prize wants to get us into the league by next Christmas. Page:

Major Hoan Receives Some Advertising.

Major Dan Hoan has received some recent advertising. Fortunately, a serious storm which burdened the wires and made radio something necessary to reduce speech to its lowest terms in number of words, made Major Hoan's performance less known than would have been possible otherwise. He refused to send a message of condolence on the death of Woodrow Wilson and after the Milwaukee council had passed such a resolution, refused again to sign it because he could not subscribe to the clause therein which stated that Mr. Wilson was a "good American."Mr. Hoan declared Mr. Wilson was not a "good American." Perhaps not, measured by the Hoan standard, though the Hoan standard is rather hazy when there is an attempt to explain the reasons.When that loud talking financial angel of the Communists and I. W. W.'s William Bross Lloyd, was in Milwaukee making foreseen attack on the United States government in general and the constitution in particular, some four years ago, Major Hoan was presiding officer. It was then that Mr. Lloyd demanded that the workers arm themselves and be prepared to blow up the banks, take the weapons from the arsenals and that other like acts be performed in order to establish the Marxian dictatorship of the proletariat in America. One would judge from this standard, Mr. Hoan is unable to agree that Woodrow Wilson or anyone else, except a Lloyd or a man of the stamp of Lenin, could be a "good American." Mr. Hoan takes himself too seriously. He may achieve fame of a sort for a day, just as a man would, did he throw a brick through a window or hurl a handful of mud at a statue.Now that they have changed Petrograd into Leningrad why not call the Neva, "Bloody Run?"

A Few Inquiries.

What one inquires to himself, if not aloud, is why so many former government officials were employed by the Doheny oil interests. Was it because of conspicuous ability? Was it because they were close to the government. Why should a former secretary of the treasury be paid $250, 000 in fees immediately after leaving his office,
and a retainer of $50,000 annually, for legal services when he has never been conspicuous for his legal ability? Why was George Creel paid $5,000 to keep oil leases "away from republicans?" Why was Franklin K. Lane employed by oil interests and Lindley Garrison, former secretary of war and all the other former persons connected with the Wilson administration taken under the protecting wing of the generous Mr. Doheny? Is oil so potent that it can engulf all these men and use them for "legal" purposes when there is question between the people and persons constituting the operatives of the government as to the protection of the greater world?These be the questions which arise in the public mind as to oil and the men who rule with money oil makes.Speaking of the testimony of Edward Doheny
one of the hats in the presidential ring looks as though it had been soaked at a filling station.

TWO NOTED ENGLISHMEN DIE

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington.—Two Englishmen whose lives or whose affairs have been of interest to all English speaking people died during the last month. What they did and what they stand for constitute some of the strong bonds which unite people who speak the language of Shakespeare and Milton. The men were George Child-Chill-Willters, eighth Earl of Jersey, one of the leading bankers of Great Britain, whose family started the first English bank, and the Rev. Sabine Baring-Gould, author of the hymn "Forward, Christian Soldiers."As far back as 1594—before Captain John Smith's day at Jamestown, Va., a child was in the goldsmithing and pawnbroking business in London. Today Child's Bank is one of the most respected financial institutions in that city. Who does not remember, in Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities,"
the references to what Dickens called Tellson's Bank? "Tellson's Bank" by Temple Bar," says Dickens, "was an old-fashioned place even in the year one thousand seven hundred and eighty." People who know London know that "Tellson's Bank" of Dickens in reality was Child's Bank and, no doubt, there was in Child's old job man."Tellson's Bank," or Child's, no longer is to be found at Temple Bar, for when that ancient building was torn down, having been condemned as unsafe, the bank was moved. It occupied, among others, the room immediately above the arch
way, familiar to all who know their old London, and it has been said that the weight of the builders accumulated through generations by the bank was what finally rendered the Bar insecure.Not only did the Child family start the first English bank; they originated the circulating note.
The bank had checks printed and those were circulated as a medium of tender and those experience proved that the bit of paper was as good as silver or gold. Doubtless, the circulating note would have been invented sooner or later, but it so happens that to this banking family, a member of which has just died while still actively engaged in the business, which has proved invaluable to all business and to all governments.An old bank can tell as many tales as an old cathedral. It seems curious to realize that this same bank, where people today are making deposits and getting checks cashed, was the place where the famous Nell Gwynne did her banking.
The records show her account and also reveal that she could not write her name but merely was able to scrawl her initials. Also these telltale records show that she overrew her account.King William and Queen Mary had their accounts at Child's, and so did the great general,
the Duke of Marlborough, Titus Cates, the politician, and John Oxenham, the poet, banker there.
The name of the bank stood so high that when,
some two centuries ago, there was a run upon it,
a Duchess of Marlborough loaded her coach with gold and drove with it to the bank to place it on deposit so the institution would be in funds to meet the depositors' demands. It is recorded that in one day the bank paid out $2,000,000—a vast sum in those times—before the United States was even a nation.All sorts of romance is intertwined with the financial, political and literary associations of the bank. One of the Childs had a 17-year-old daughter who eloped with John Fane, Earl of Westmoreland. Her father sent riders to catch them.

foul and tainted goods is to be greater than usual.Public disfavor is to be aroused in regard to persons in the public eye who fail to live according to decent standards of civilization and less lenity than formerly will be extended to so-called geniuses.Persons whose birthday it is have the favor-

JUST FOLKS

BY EDGAR A. GUEST.

DRAMATIC PREFERENCE
When to the play house now and then the good wife bids me go, I always breathe a silent prayer she's picked a merry show. I'd rather be stabbed, though with mirth than I'd be stabb'd, though with a sigh. It does no sooth my troubled heart to watch a lady die; Murder most foul is not a scene I joy to look upon. Although it may be classic art and beautifully done.I like a play, a cheerful play that's bright with sparkling wit; With crippled minds and brains deformed I have no wish to sit. The depth of human misery some artists can reveal. With such fidelity of life you'd swear the pain is real; If I must choke for pleasure's sake, to prove an actor's worth, This happier privilege I choose—I want to choke with mirth.Oh, I have things to grieve about and care to free my soul. And what I need to soothe my mind are comic scenes and droll. I have enough of misery to look upon and bear.I do not need the tragic stage to add to my despair; So when unto the theater the good wife bids me go, I always breathe a silent prayer she's picked a

SPUR OF THE MOMENT

BY ROY K. MOULTON.

In Japan nowadays they don't count any disturbance a real earthquake so long as they can stand on their feet.A man cannot be in love and feel sensible at the same time.A popular person must know a lot of dull people.

HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1924.

Although Venus is in heronic aspect early in the morning, astrologers read this as a doubtful day. The Sun and Neptune are both adverse.During this planetary government women are likely to be inclined to great activity and they may find much that thwarts their efforts.The seers prophesy that in 1924 women with receptivity and attain to positions hitherto occupied only by men.There are signs interpreted as indicating sex antagonism and jealousy that may cause men to do all possible to thwart the ambitions of women,
but they are warned that great power is to be given the mothers and daughters of the nation.A certain deficiency in the blood and other tissues of the body may be especially responsible for hyperesthetic rhinitis, and for that matter the calcium deficiency may account for the susceptibility of some persons to regular hay fever. Many hay fever sufferers have reported alleviation by taking calcium chloride or calcium salicylate, which may then thruout the hay fever season. Even a small dose of calcium lactate, five grains, three times daily, after food, and well diluted, seems to relieve or diminish susceptibility to hyperesthetic rhinitis. Similar treatment has seemed to diminish the tendency to seizures in cases of asthma. The medicine will take thrice daily for about three weeks, and after that once or twice a day for a few months.QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

color after two drunks? I have so why the white look when the liquor is standard brand? (Curious.)Answer.—It is standard deadly pallor. It is to be expected after two drunks.

Whooping Cough.

I have three children, 6 weeks, 17 months and 20 months old. My son has two children, 10 months and 17 months old. My mother goes over and helps her at night. Does she have whooping cough in clothing?Answer.—It is a most interesting condition.—
In some one year, I suspect, that it may contribute just a dirty little bit to the absurd notion of "taking cold from draft." For one thing, it causes hypothermia, which is a condition of the body's temperature being lower than normal. The child is not able to tolerate the cold
as well as the adult.

THE MACHINEGUN SNEEZE

Not a few cases of poliomyelitis (that fever) still pass as "cold," and so there are some folks of this meaning term that they even dub certain cases of poliomyelitis "rose cold." I have seen some cases of poliomyelitis which are certainly cases of poliomyelitis. Similar treatment has

"Why should I let you have my niece again? You quite a turn?" Judge Dolan questioned slyly.

Judge Dolan immediately realized that he had made a mistake. But he had, ere this, bulldozed his way out of worse situations.

"Why—uh—I didn't see her for a while," said Pap Hawkins, giving the lady a quick, impudent glance as he spoke.

"You haven't answered my question," Judge Dolan persisted with cold patience.

"Sure I did. Sure, Dolly. I've come for you. You ready to come home?"

Dolly, who had not removed her eyes from Pap's impudent entry, tensely gripped the bandage below her shadow and lifted a perfect upper lip in complete scorn of her visitor. "I'm not going back to your ranch."

"That's where you're wrong. Bill Derr can't do you any good in Farwell. He—"

"I might here." Dolly at his back completed the sentence for him. "I won't block the doorway, Pap. Plenty of room inside."

"Come in and sit down, all of you," ordered the judge. "Come in and sit down!" he repeated, for Pap and Sim were plainly of two minds what to do.

Judge Dolan's dead eyes began to squint now, and Sim strode across to a long bench that ran the length of the room and sat down at one end of it.

"You and Tom take the other end of it, Bill," said Judge Dolan. "Well, Sheriff, there's no need to knock the door off its hinges. What do you want?"

"My mistake," regretted the sheriff.

"Don't apologize," said Judge Dolan, who had never worked well with the sheriff. "You make so many mistakes that one more or less is of little moment. What do you want?"

"I want to say you about Bill Derr, here. Tonight again."

"All right," the judge cut him short, "you and your deputy sit down over there between Pap and Tom. Hurry! Important? All the more reason for you to wait till I have plenty of time. Sit down."

Fuming, the sheriff obeyed. Nate Martin, his chief of police, joined Harry Green with his knee. It always annoyed the pair of them when their once-sympathetic chief was told off by Judge Dolan.

"Now, Pap," said the capable ju-

SICK WOMAN MADE HAPPY

Entirely Restored to Health
by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mart, Texas.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to build me up as was all rundown, nervous and sick. I ached and hurt all over so that I was often compelled to go to bed, and I had to have most of my work done. No medicine seemed to help me until one of my neighbors who was taking the Vegetable Compound insisted on me trying a bottle of it. The medicine helped me from the first, and the best of all that I can even see again without that awful, nervous feeling I was used to having. And I used to take crying spells, with such a blue feeling that I cannot explain. Now all that has left me. I feel so cheerful, and I have gained weight, sleep well and eat hearty. Oh! I this I had words to express what this medicine has done for me! I am a housekeeper and do every thing from the sewing to the washing now and it doesn't hurt me. You may see my letter in any way you wish. I will be glad to help any suffering woman to the road of health and happiness," to Mrs. E. Brannon, 401 Travis Ave., Mart, Texas.

EYE STRAIN

It is remarkable for how many things a child may be accused when what is wrong with him may be only eye strain. Many common complaints, feelings, etc., when based on the table, and refuse to eat his food. The mother, knowing that there is no reason for this action, is more than liable to scold and nag at the child. There may be a very real reason for it and yet not directly connected with his stomach.

Eye strain causes great uneasiness and discomfort. A child is more hesitate to put glasses on the child in the fear that they will be forced into a lifelong servitude with them.

backward children, children who due to an inability to read the word correctly, or the fatigue incident to an imperfect vision. Children seem to grow rapidly and yet fail to learn to know what it is they are reading, and why the words are a queer and indecipherable jumble, instead of clear cut letters.

Glasses fitted properly may pull the child through a few difficult years and then with added strength he may find himself unable to do what he pleases. This is the opposite of the exercise necessary to help them grow stronger. This is not at all inconceivable and parents should never hesitate to put glasses on the child in the fear that they will be forced into a lifelong servitude with them.

and in school and houses in children of school age whose eyes are being used constantly should be a warning to the parent to investigate and discover if there is some easily remedied condition which will bring comfort and renewed health to the child.

Children seem to grow rapidly and yet fail to learn to know what it is they are reading, and why the words are a queer and indecipherable jumble, instead of clear cut letters.

Intolerance and lack of charity toward another's mistakes will never bring you happiness or help in the least. Yes, I think you are nursing a wrong needlessly. Of course it is important that you do not bring him in a house of horrors. If he is bad, then he is, try to love him for his good qualities. You are only cheating yourself when you refuse to be affectionate and loving and unless you soften in your attitude your husband will doubtless turn from you to some other woman who will show him the love you can. By all means forgive and try to forget. From me, I never mention the unfortunate affair to your husband and love him so much that he will not be tempted to turn to some one else for affection.

Do you think I should forgive my husband?

TODAY'S MARKET

GRAIN

Chicago Review. Corn today rose to new high price records for the season, mostly through $2.12 a bushel. Corn buying by commission houses was responsible for the upturn. Unfavorable weather, likely to retard the crop movement, has however, profit-taking sales increased, and brought about a reaction. The opening, which ranged from 14¢ to 16¢ per bushel, was at 14¢ 12¢, with sales on all around unchanged, and then a setback to slightly below yesterday's finish.

Notwithstanding that all deliveries of corn were at record prices, the highest previous prices for the present crop, the market closed a little lower than yesterday. There were some late reports that hauling of corn had begun in Iowa, with considerable freedom.

Fresh buying was in evidence on all the down-towns and refineries, but no grain or feeders were listed. The market closed a little lower than yesterday. There were some late reports that hauling of corn had begun in Iowa, with considerable freedom.

Wheat—Local wheat, weakness in spring wheat, the "A" wheat market, after opening at 14¢ off to 14¢ 11¢, June, May 14¢ 12¢ @ 14¢ 11¢, and July 14¢ 12¢, prices here underwent a general downward trend.

Profit-taking sales, due largely to the recent continued advance here, kept the market depressed in the last trading. The losses were heavy, 14¢ to 13¢ 11¢, June, May 14¢ 12¢ @ 14¢ 11¢, and July 14¢ 12¢ @ 14¢ 11¢.

Oats, steady by the strength of the corn, started at a shade lower to 13¢ 11¢, and showed a slight gain.

Provisions were irregular, the corn market being firm, whereas hog values were unchanged.

JANESEVILLE MARKET

Cattle strong. Hogs steady. Changers and cutters steady.

Feathers steady.

Feeders strong. Hog market closes weak.

Lamb 25¢-30¢ the strong.

SHELDON VISITED GRENFELL PLACE

Young Jamesville Traveler Tells of Popularity of Doctor, Lecturer.

Inadequate glimpses of the type of work accomplished by Dr. William Grenfell, who is to lecture in this city Feb. 14, are contained in a letter from Sherwood Sheldon, Jamesville young man now traveling in Indiana for the Parker Pen company. Mr. Sheldon, it will be recalled, recently returned from an extended trip around the world, in the course of which he was shipwrecked off the coast of Newfoundland.

Mr. Sheldon writes:

"I think it did us a lot of good to come back up against some of Dr. Grenfell's business. In life, Newfoundland was about the last place on earth we ever intended to go. But when we wandered into that land of ice and snow, I saw, whatsoever, why our seafaring friends advised the infinite course. It was the regular hunting for oil-seam fishermen and seal hunters. Then when we discovered that it was one of Dr. Grenfell's landmarks, why, you bet we left! we were really part owners in it—readers of his book."

Hike for Fresh Water.

"Many of us don't know it, but they don't have bathe on cattle ships. Then I think you'll find that most sailors on making land first head for fresh water and plenty of it, and some good cheery company—regardless of what we read about the 'Ho Ho Ho' and a bottle of rum business."

"Then while we were there—in fact just when we were watering ourselves—about a dozen sailors came in to join us just off another wreck. Only there was a real one smashed up on the coast in the fog, and they were mighty lucky to get ashore. The local institute took care of them, of course, as they do of so many others."

Well Known Among Sen. "Everybody can tell you about Dr. Grenfell up in that country—or better, than sea—as most of the people are the regular tellers of the sea. But I suppose that it is along the Labrador coast just north of Newfoundland that he is the greatest and most work of this sort. Up there the people just live, and that is about all. Dr. Grenfell is both their doctor and their minister, so through him they have access to the two essential things that no man can really live without."

"Some of us have been fortunate enough to get at first hand how the rest of the world fares, and then realize what blessings we have here at home but it needs a man like Dr. Grenfell to remind us of it. I'd rather be a Greneller than a Grand Jester any day!"

Opening Roads from Orfordville

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Orfordville.—Orfordville is gradually recovering from the effects of the storm. A party of about twenty went out on the Jamesville road to open it up for travel on Wednesday afternoon. Roads outside the village and in other directions are passable and the train service is only slightly behind schedule. Many of the telephones of the local company are still out of commission, wires and poles having been broken by the storm. The village was in darkness Monday night, but had light the next night. The Light and Power Company had several wires broken and a few poles down.

280 SCORE MADE BY MILWAUKEEAN FOR HIGHEST GAME

THE MOST amusing part of the bowling tournament is to have some of the teams and some of the bowlers discuss the alleys. It makes a great deal of difference whether they shot big scores or whether they did not so well as their own expectations. The team or the man who rolls a score that places him off the beaten path comes off the alleys shouting like hell. "Best alleys ever rolled," is often their exclamation. "Finest alleys in the state." Ah, but the others. Here comes a gang that fell down on the drives and so did their spirits, evidently. "Say, kid, those are rotten alleys. Nobody can ever get much on them." The most peculiar thing about it is that many of the alleys kick about the floor when it so happens that it has been on the top floor that a greater part of the big counts have been cracked. This is just another bit of evidence to add to what has been said before. The bowling game is some squealer. It tells just about what kind of man each keeper is.

Reputations at Stake as Inquiries Reopen After Funeral Lull.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1923, by Janesville Daily Gazette

Washington.—The integrity of government—a theme which only rarely in all history has been projected in the realm of controversy—stands today as the issue over-hanging all else in the national life.

The claim that has been enforced by the adjournment of all activities out of respect to the memory of Woodrow Wilson is but the stillness that precedes the storm. The time will come, likely in the next few weeks, on the motives of public men and their influence in governmental action in and out of office.

Reputations are at stake. Political advantages and disadvantages are bound to accrue. Innocent acts will be subject to infamy—but it's all part of the confusion that has developed out of one of the worst scandals of the present generation.

True enough, a presidential candidate can do no wrong, but there are disinterested men in Congress who deplore the whole oil mess as a possible reflection on the competency of public officials and as encouragement for those who would do away with both the old political parties and start afresh. That party is the high-salaried oil paid lawyers who were hired because of their "influence" with the administration in power, the making of the contracts for government property without public bids, the removal of resources of government control without regard to the needs of the government itself, that discloses a day of dishonesty and materialism which will have a profound effect in the conduct of affairs here.

No More Hesitation

The passing of bribes to get favorable governmental action has long since become obsolete. The extension of "lions" to public officials is but one of many scandals which upon individual conscience is assumed, but which, nevertheless, has accomplished the purpose for which it was given. Again and again it has been apparent that promises of positions in commercial life of men who would resign after handling favorably a case between the government and a business concern are numerous. The government itself has paid its high grades relatively low salaries compared with the incomes given for the same work in the private concerns. The computations of politicians and business outside the government have been checked before officials.

Indeed, not a few men have actually gone into the government service with the ultimate purpose of meeting business people who in later years would help them make a favorable connection. The turnover in personnel in recent years in certain departments of the government has been amazing. Even members of congress whose salaries are insufficient for their needs, have maintained connections with law firms that have engaged in practice before government departments. Many former officials of congress have settled down to practice here. Most of them are now in their 60s.

Mr. Wilson's resolution will stay in the nation the mayor and of Alermen, Charles C. Schmid, socialist. He scores the mayor for his refusal to sign the resolution of condolence in particular to aid their clients.

Some have become legislatively lobbyists, endeavoring constantly to influence the course of the interest they represent and which gain the support of the council, instead of a ringing vote of condolence to Mrs. Wilson.

Declaring Mayor Homan's action in refusing to participate in national mourning for Woodrow Wilson constituted a stigma on Wisconsin not justified by the real attitude prevailing in the state, the Milwaukee city council yesterday adopted a resolution condemning the attitude of Milwaukee's mayor.

The resolution asks all other Wisconsin cities to give voice to their condemnation.

The Milwaukee county chapter of the National American Legion also adopted a resolution protesting

Refusal to Sign Condolence Resolution to Mrs. Wilson Called Disgrace

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Milwaukee—Declining that Mayor Homan's attitude concerning Woodrow Wilson does not represent the American sentiment of Milwaukee, City Clerk John J. Weller will ask the Frank Stoeltman post of the American Legion Thursday night to adopt a resolution condemning the attitude of the mayor and terminating his action as "disgraceful to Milwaukee."

The Teapot Dome scandal is of no recent origin. Numerous were uttered about it when President Taft was in office. Whispers were heard that something was wrong, but so deep-seated was the faith in President Harding's sincerity that what he approved was regarded at the time necessarily all right.

The chances are, he never knew the details of the oil controversy. He always relied on the man he gave him to his cabinet, Mr. Daniels, who questioned Secretary Taft's judgment. Indeed, Mr. Taft himself probably believes to this day that the Joneses were in the interest of the government and that the private loan made to him by E. L. Doheny was not a factor in his conclusion.

Has Only Begun

The investigating committee has only begun its investigation, but Mr. Daniels will be asked to testify again. William G. McAdoo, who was counsel for Doheny on Mexican matters, has requested an opportunity to be heard, as has former Secretary Daniels, who wants to answer criticisms about his policy. Thus far, the controversy turns on Mr. Taft's acts and Secretary Daniels' approval of the contracts.
